International Day of the Seafarer

Throughout the world, seafarers face hardship and danger every day to keep our global economy afloat. They live a tough life, working long hours in all weathers, living in confined conditions with limited opportunities for social interaction or relaxation. The work is hard and the level of responsibility is high!

As we celebrate our seafarers each year on June 25th, we ask you to think of something you own. Whether it's the car you drive, the food you eat, the clothes you wear, the gadgets you use or the furniture you sit on. Chances are it came by sea..... 90 percent of everything!

Come SEA us! THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!
